

Church Key Brewing Continues to Receive National Recognition

December 2005, Campbellford, Ontario – In November, for the third consecutive year, Church-Key's Holy Smoke Ale received the Gold Medal from the Canadian Brewing Awards.

Founded in 2000, Church-Key Brewing is located in an 1878 Methodist Church on the outskirts of the town of Campbellford, Ontario. The only microbrewery in picturesque Northumberland County, Church-Key features a variety of award-winning hand-crafted ales including our flagship Northumberland Ale and the multi award-winning Holy Smoke Scotch Ale. All of the ales are made in small batches from four ingredients: malted barley, hops, water, and yeast. Within these traditions, each Church-Key Product has distinct properties of color, richness, and aroma that make it unique.

Owner and Brewer John Graham proudly displays all the following awards at the Brewery outside Campbellford:
